The name at the end of the telegram was unknown to either Harris or his son, but Gardiner assured them it was one to confound with in the financial world. Riles' excitement was scarcely less than Allan's. Gardiner choked a flood of questions on his lips with a quick imperative glance. Even Riles did not know that the telegram had been written a few doors down the street by a stoutish man in a pepper-and-salt suit.

"I'll take a chance," said Harris, at last. "I'll take a chance."

"Chance nothing!" interjected Gardiner, with momentary abruptness. "It was a chance a minute ago; it's a certainty now. It's the cinch of a lifetime."

"Where's some paper?" asked Allan. "Let's get a telegram away right off."

Gardiner produced a notebook and, at Harris' dictation, drafted a telegram to Bradshaw, directing him to dispose of the farm at once along the lines of the instructions already given him. He was to cash the agreement and wire the proceeds to Harris.

Then followed long anxious days. Fortune seemed to hang on Bradshaw's success in making an immediate sale of the farm. It was a large order, and yet Harris felt confident a buyer would be found. The price asked was not unreasonable, especially when it was remembered that the crop would go to the purchaser, and was now almost ready for the binder. Bradshaw was in constant touch with well-to-do farmers from the South who were on the lookout for land, and his own banking facilities would enable him to forward the cash as soon as a sale was assured, without waiting for actual payment by the purchaser. So Harris was confident in the midst of his anxiety.

A gentleman's agreement had been made with Gardiner and Riles that not a word was to be said concerning their investment until it was a completed fact. Gardiner dropped in occasionally to learn if any word had come from Plainville, but it was not until the afternoon of the fourth day that the fateful yellow envelope was handed in at the hotel. As it happened, Gardiner and Riles were present at the moment. They slipped into the back room and waited in a fever of expectation for Harris to announce the contents.

Harris and Allan read the message twice before speaking; then Allan repeated it aloud:

"Twenty thousand dollars proceeds sale goes forward by wire your bank. Correspondence follows. Will explain failure to get price asked."

"BRADSHAW."
Harris was torn between emotions, and his face worked with unwonted nervousness as he struggled with them. That Bradshaw should have sold the farm for half the price he had stipulated seemed incredible. It was robbery; it was a breach of trust of the most despicable nature. On the other hand, if the amount available would enable them to buy the mine, the huge profit assured from that investment would much more than offset the loss on the farm. Gardiner and Riles, too, were visibly downcast when they heard the amount, but Gardiner promptly grappled with the situation.

"It's less than we figured on," he said, "but perhaps we can get through still. The thing to do is to get out to the mine at once with this money. It will be sufficient to prove the genuineness of our intentions, and induce him into town. Then Riles can put up some and I can put up some, and that, with the twenty thousand, should hold the deal until Riles can realize on his farm. Within a very short time we can turn the whole thing over to the New Yorkers, and take in the profits."

"Say, Gardiner," said Allan, speaking as one who had been struck by a new and important thought. "Where do you come in on this deal? Is your old gink up in the hills coming through for half?"

"Not a cent," said Gardiner. "As for where I come in, well, dealing with old friends like Riles and the Harrises, I considered that a secondary matter. I fancy that when they feel the profits in their pockets they will be disposed to be not only fair, but generous, and, of course, if I put up part of the money I will expect my share of profit. But I'm not asking for any assurance; I'm just going to leave that to you."

"Well, that's decent, anyway," Harris agreed. "I haven't as much money as I expected, but if we can pull it

TRUTH TRIUMPHS.
Hondo Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.
A truthful statement of a Hondo citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.
A Hondo citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.
Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?
F. H. Bohlen, proprietor of a repair shop, Hondo, says: "I always use Doan's Kidney Pills when my back bothers me and they never fail to help me. My back ached at times and I had sort of a dull pain in my kidneys. I was often dizzy and black specks appeared before my eyes. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were highly colored and burned in passage. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured the attack. My back is now as strong as iron and my kidneys act regularly. I think the world of Doan's Kidney Pills."

through—it may be all right yet. Of course, you remember that I haven't promised to put up a dollar unless I like the looks of the mine when I see it." Harris still had qualms of hesitation about entering into a transaction so much out of his beaten path, and he took occasion from time to time to make sure that an avenue of retreat was still open.

"That's the understanding, exactly," Gardiner assured him. "You're the man with the money, and if you don't like it, don't pay."

Harris at once visited the bank, and returned shortly with the information that the amount, less a somewhat startling percentage for transmission and exchange, was already deposited to his credit.

"Then let us lose no more time," said Gardiner, with enthusiasm. "You will need a team and rig, and you better pack a couple of blankets and some grub. Make the stableman throw in a couple of saddles; you may have to ride the last part of the trip. Riles and I will make it the whole way on horseback." Gardiner then remembered that it would be necessary for him to go back to the ranch and change horses, but he described in detail the road they should take, and assured them they could not miss it. It was the main road up the river valley—up, and up—and if they drove hard they would reach that night a spot where an old, deserted cabin stood back in a clump of poplars. It would be a good place to spend the night, and Riles and Gardiner would meet them there, if, indeed, they did not overtake them on the road. Neither Harris nor Allan had any fear of a strange trail; they had been bred to a sense of direction and location all their lives, and were confident they would find no difficulty in reaching the rendezvous.

No Worms in a Healthy Child
All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a general Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 75c per bottle.

Letters from Yancey state that the teachers of that school, F. H. Patterson and Don Lee Harwell being among them, had a great time getting there. They spent Friday night, the night of the flood, in San Antonio, but, fortunately, were not in the flooded district. They went out to Yancey Saturday, but had to go all kinds of ways to get around the high waters, one time having to get trucks and haul rock to fill a washout in the road. They write that at the opening exercises of school Monday about two hundred patrons and friends of the school were present (not including the pupils). A big dinner was served, and a great welcome given the teachers. — Kyle News.

Why Suffer?

Cardui "Did Wonders for Me," Declares This Lady.

"I suffered for a long time with womanly weakness," says Mrs. J. R. Simpson, of 57 Spruce St., Asheville, N. C. "I finally got to the place where it was an effort for me to go. I would have bearing-down pains in my side and back — especially severe across my back, and down in my side there was a great deal of soreness. I was nervous and easily upset."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I heard of Cardui and decided to use it," continues Mrs. Simpson. "I saw shortly it was benefiting me, so I kept it up and it did wonders for me. And since then I have been glad to praise Cardui. It is the best woman's tonic made." Weak women need a tonic. Thousands and thousands, like Mrs. Simpson, have found Cardui of benefit to them. Try Cardui for your trouble.

Fletcherized Farm Facts.

BY FLETCHER DAVIS

Now is the time to prepare the cropping scheme for next year. The acreage to be devoted to the various crops should be selected now and treated accordingly so that the best results may be obtained.

In making this designation the first consideration should be a systematic rotation of crops. If possible the same crops should not follow each other on the same land in succession. Frequent rotations insure the most satisfactory yields.

The estimated average yield per acre of lint cotton in Texas for five successive decades has been as follows: From 1866 to 1875, 236 pounds; 1876-1885, 192; 1886-1895, 198; 1896-1899, 169; and from 1900 to 1915, 169 pounds. This steady decline is no doubt due in part to the increased ravages of insects, including the boll weevil; but much of it is, beyond question, due to continuous planting of cotton on the same land.

When one considers that the labor and expense of cultivating an acre of cotton is virtually the same regardless of whether it produces 236 pounds or only 169, it can be readily seen that the decline of 67 pounds per acre in the yield represents an enormous economic loss that should if possible be avoided.

Rotation of crops is a prime requisite of overcoming this loss.

Rotation of crops varies the feeding zone and the feeding habits of the crops and renders available a larger supply, over a wider feeding zone, of the plant foods in the soil and thereby promotes a more vigorous, healthful growth of the plants, rendering them more resistant to attacks from insect pests and plant diseases. Rotation removes the crop from the reach, to a certain extent, of insects peculiarly injurious to the crop, for it is characteristic of most insect life to hibernate in or close to the stubble of its host plant. The further the crop can be removed from these hibernating quarters the more of them will perish before reaching the new crop and the less will be their destruction. Rotation operates in much the same way in reference to plant diseases. As a preventive of disease, it is much more effective than as a protection against insect pests. But both considerations are worth taking into account.

On some fields of particularly heavy soil this year the loss from cotton root rot has reached almost 100 per cent. In destructiveness, it is reckoned as second only to the boll weevil. And yet the greater part of this loss could have been avoided had the planting of cotton been confined to land known to be uninfected. The average yield for this year's crop is placed at only 101 pounds of lint cotton, or less than 50 per cent of a normal crop. Can we longer afford to neglect any of the factors that contribute to this depletion of the yield?

Crops that have no tap-root and are more or less surface feeders, such as corn, the sorghums, the small grains, etc., are not susceptible to injury from disease. Therefore, they can be planted safely on infected land. The acreage of these crops can be profitably increased in all infected areas.

It is claimed that two or three years rotation to non-susceptible crops in this way will starve out the fungus and largely correct the evil. It is well worth a trial, but to prove effective care must be exercised to see that not only no cotton is grown on the infected land but that no other plants that are susceptible to the disease grow on it during the time. During the writer's experience as an institute lecturer for our State Department of Agriculture, he visited a farm where the farmer had planted a large field in corn and cow-peas for the purpose of resting the land, building up its fertility and starving out the root-rot infection. The cow-peas were as badly infected as it would have been possible for a cotton crop to be infected, and the farmer was thus defeating one of his main purposes. There have come under his observation cockle-burrs, peanuts, rag-weeds, pumpkins, and other tap-rooted plants that to all appearances had succumbed to this same disease. Therefore, it is plain to be seen that to eradicate the disease by rotation calls for painstaking and persistent care.

Early, deep breaking of land and the incorporating of an abundance of decaying vegetable matter in the soil, so as to afford better aeration, has proven helpful in the experience of many. But where the soil is underlain by a close, impervious subsoil this will be disappointing. In cases of this kind subsoiling has proven of value.

In forming your crop scheme for next season, it will be found profitable, therefore, to rotate your crops where-

True to his paper and true to his clan— Just look him over, the newspaper man. Sleep! There are times he'll do with a little, Work till his nerves and his temper are brittle; Fire cannot daunt him; nor long hours disturb him; Gold cannot buy him and threats cannot curb him; Highbrow or lowbrow, your own speech he'll hand you, Talk as you will to him, he'll understand you; He'll go wherever another man can, That is the way of the newspaper man.

Surgeon, if urgent the need be, you'll find him, Ready to help, nor will dizziness blind him, He'll give the ether, and never once falter, Say the last rites like a priest at the altar; Gentle and kind with the weak and the weary, Which is proved now and then when his k-e-n-y-e grows teary, Facing all things in life's curious plan That is the way of the newspaper man.

One night a week may he rest from his labor, One night at home to be father and neighbor, Just a few hours for his own bit of leisure, All the rest's gazing at other men's pleasure, All the rest's toiling, and yet he rejoices, All the world is and that men do, he voices— Who knows a calling more glorious than The day-by-day work of the newspaper man?

Driven to it. "But you told me you couldn't afford to buy a motorcar." "I couldn't," replied the timorous citizen. "Something happened to me that made me desperate." "What was it?" "A motorist who nearly ran over me shouted: 'I'll get you next time.'" ever possible. By no means should the same crop be planted on land where plant diseases have appeared this year. By all means the land should be rotated to some crop not susceptible to that disease. And early and deep plowing on all heavy, compact soils, together with the plowing under of all the vegetable matter possible, should be the first step in preparation. With the taxable values of our lands constantly increasing and their average production constantly diminishing, every means that will restore production to former levels, or raise them above, should be carefully studied and zealously applied wherever economically expedient.

HONDO TRADES DAY.

Saturday, October 1st, 1921, has been designated as "Trades Day" for the whole of Medina county by the Hondo Chamber of Commerce, and a great day is anticipated. Everyone having anything to trade, from a pigeon-toed duck to a cross-eyed elephant, is expected to be here with whatever they have to trade--horses, mules, cows, hogs, sheep, goats, chicken, etc.--and if haven't anything else to trade then swap "terbacker" with your friends.

These "Trade Days" are to be a regular feature of the first Saturday of each month in the future.

County Schools Open.

County School Superintendent W. N. Saathoff is in a happy mood these days. All the county schools are open and running smoothly, and what is particularly gratifying to him was the increased attendance at nearly all the schools on the opening day. This is doubtless due to the fact that the cotton crop, which was very short, was practically all gathered before the schools begun, thus allowing all the pupils to be present. He anticipates one of the most successful school years in the history of Medina county, and all believers in education hope that his ambition in this respect may be gratified to the extreme.

Paint your house with

SWP
THE above picture shows that one gallon of SWP house paint covers 360 square feet of surface, two coats. Ordinary paint covers from 200 to 250 square feet. That is the first saving. SWP, though heavy-bodied, flows easily and evenly, thus cutting down the time required to apply it. That is the second saving. SWP outlasts two or three paintings with ordinary paint, saving the cost of materials for repainting and also saving the labor cost which is about 75 per cent of the total expense.
In buying paint it's the area a gallon covers, not the cost per gallon, that determines its economy. We carry a complete line of SWP. If you plan to paint your house, let us help you.

The Quinine That Does Not Affect the Head
Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness nor ringing in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE.

The NEW EDISON
Bamboschek, principal conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, listened to Muzio, the dramatic soprano sing in comparison with the New Edison's RE-CREATION of her voice, and the following is his signed verdict:
"I consider that the quality of Miss Muzio's living voice and the quality of her RE-CREATED voice are identical." Clubman is surprised at country boy's knowledge of Muzio's voice.

More Than Mere Entertainment

When you buy a New Edison—you get more than the best entertainment. You get cultural training and a musical education. You get the real performances of great artists. You get opera just as you would hear it at the Metropolitan, Paris Opera, Coventry Garden or Milan, and now

About Mood Music

Mood Music is the result of a two year research by Mr. Edison into the effects of music. The psychological work was under the direction of Dr. W. V. Bingham, Director of Applied Psychology, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and other psychologists. The remarkable discoveries, which they made through countless experiments, are now in booklet form for your practical use.

If you do not own a New Edison, we will gladly loan you one for three days--so you can discover what Mood Music and the wonderful New Edison will do for you.

The State of Texas, to the Sheriff or any Constable of Medina County—Greeting:
You Are Hereby Commanded, That by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Medina for four weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon Jos. Hoag, Frank Hoag, Helen Koenig, Adolph L. Koenig, Paul Hoag, Charles Hoag, August Hoag and George Hoag, whose residences are unknown, to be and appear before the Honorable District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Medina, at the Court House thereof, in Hondo, Texas, on the sixth Monday after the first Monday in September, the same being the 17th day of October, A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 15th day of September, A. D. 1921, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1942, wherein Jos. Schneider, J. H. Schneider, Mary
Schneider, August Schneider, Adolph
Schneider, Albert Schneider, Minda Haegelin and husband, Otto Haegelin, and Armin Schneider are plaintiffs, and Jos. Hoag, Frank Hoag, Helen Koenig and husband Adolph L. Koenig, Paul Hoag, Charles Hoag, August Hoag, and George Hoag are defendants. The nature of plaintiffs' demand being as follows, to-wit:

That Jos. Schneider, Sr., at the time of his death owned in fee simple the following described land, lying and being situated in Medina county, Texas, to-wit: 160 acres, abstract No. 1526, certificate No. 26-41, survey No. 3184; 40 acres, being outlot No. 35, out of survey No. 42, J. E. Calder; 20 acres, being outlot No. 64. That said lands passed to and vested in the following named descendants of the said Jos.
Schneider, deceased, under the laws of descent and distribution of this State as follows: to plaintiff Jos. Schneider one-fifth part thereof; to plaintiff J.
H. Schneider one-fifth part thereof; to plaintiffs Mary Schneider, August Schneider, Adolph Schneider, Albert Schneider, Minda Haegelin, wife of Otto Haegelin, and Armin Schneider, as the widow and heirs at law of Louis Schneider, deceased, one-fifth part thereof; to Frank Schneider one-fifth part thereof, which interest has been acquired by purchase by plaintiff Jos. Schneider; to defendants Jos. Hoag, Frank Hoag, Helen Koenig, wife of Adolph L.
Koenig, Paul Hoag, Charles Hoag, August Hoag and George Hoag, one-fifth part thereof; that on or about the 12th day of January, A. D. 1921, plaintiffs and defendants made and entered into an agreement of partition of the above described lands by the terms of which said lands were partitioned and distributed as follows: to plaintiff Jos.
Schneider, was allotted the 40 acres out of survey No. 42, J. E. Calder; to plaintiff J. H. Schneider, was allotted an undivided one-half interest in and to the 160 acre tract of land, being survey No. 3184, in the name of Mary Lewis; to plaintiffs Mary Schneider, widow of Louis Schneider, August Schneider, Adolph Schneider, Albert
Schneider, Minda Haegelin, wife of Otto Haegelin, and Armin Schneider, was allotted the other undivided one-half interest in and to the 160 acre tract, being survey No. 3184. Mary Lewis; to defendants Jos. Hoag, surviving spouse of Mary Hoag, deceased, August Hoag, Frank Hoag, Helen Koenig, wife of Adolph L. Koenig, Charles Hoag, George Hoag and Paul Hoag was allotted the 20 acre outlot No. 64; that the defendants, Frank Hoag, Paul Hoag and Adolph L. Koenig, represented themselves and the other defendants at the time of said agreement, and the partition of said land and premises made at said time was fair and equitable and binding on the other defendants, but they have failed and refused to sign such agreement or deed of partition; that plaintiff, Jos.
Schneider, is or was the owner at the time of said agreement of partition of an undivided two-fifths part of the above land and premises; that plaintiff, J. H. Schneider, is, or was the owner at the time of said agreement of partition of an undivided one-fifth part of said land; that plaintiffs, Mary Schneider, August Schneider, Adolph
Schneider, Albert Schneider, Minda Haegelin and Armin Schneider, are, or were the owners of an undivided one-fifth part of said land; and that defendants, Mary Hoag, August Hoag, Frank Hoag, Helen Koenig, Charles Hoag, George Hoag and Paul Hoag, are or were the owners of an undivided one-fifth part of said land; that plaintiffs and defendants are the sole owners of said land, so far as known to plaintiffs, and the estimated value of said land and premises is the sum of $5,000.00; wherefore plaintiffs pray that all of the defendants be cited by publication to appear and answer herein as required by law; and further that the defendants whose places of residence are alleged herein to be in the State of Texas, be cited personally, if to be found at the places represented, and if they are not residents of such places then their places of residence are unknown to plaintiffs; and that upon a hearing hereof that plaintiffs have judgment against the defendants vesting in plaintiffs the title to the land and premises allotted to them by the terms of said agreement of partition, and that said agreement or deed of partition be declared by the Court to be binding upon the defendants and divest out of them all their interest in and to the land and premises allotted to plaintiffs by the terms thereof; and in the alternative, plaintiffs pray that in the event said agreement or deed of partition is not held to be binding upon the defendants, then that plaintiffs have judgment for the partition and division of said land and premises; that commissioners be appointed and a Writ of Partition issue, and that plaintiffs have such other and further orders or decrees, legal or equitable, to which they may be justly entitled.

Herein Fail Not, And have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Hondo, this, 16th day of September, A. D. 1921.
Issued same day.

Stock Judging Contest.

The members of the Boy's Stock Judging Club had a field day and school of instruction at Hondo, Texas, Sept.
21, 1921, under the management of County Agent, Mr. C. M. Merritt, by Prof. Evans, State Boy Club Agent of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Unusual interest was manifest throughout the day, not only by the Club members, but by many of the citizens who were as willing to receive instruction as were the club members.

The Jersey cattle display was very good. Many flaws were discovered in individual animals by the scrutinizing eyes of progressive young judges.
Mr. Evans is a splendid instructor, and gave much valuable information to the club. He would not accept any criticism from the students unless they could show and prove the defect upon the particular animal.

Mr. Schlentz had on display a pen of sheep which afforded much instruction to the club. Since none of the members had studied sheep ology it was a rather difficult task for them to score very high. Nevertheless they did justice to the innocent lambs.

The Duroc-Jersey Hog and the Angus Cattle display of Mr. Russell was as good as can be found anywhere in the state. Here the boys again showed their skill in placing the stock 1st., 2nd. and 3rd.

Following is the score of the individual members who participated in the judging:

Leslie Stiegler, 1st—237 points.
Homer Laughinghouse, 2nd—215 points.
Archie Kointz, 3rd—214 points.
Chancey King, 4th—213 points.
Emmett Stiegler, 5th—210 points.
J. C. Merriman, 6th—207 points.

The club boys express their sincere appreciation to the people of Hondo for their co-operation and support in this contest, especially to those who brought live stock to be judged.

A lazy no-account feeling with yawning and sleepiness in the day time is caused by a torpid liver and disordered bowels. Herbine is a splendid remedy for such ailments. It cleanses the system and restores vim and activity.
Price, 60c. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Veteran of Civil War Still Hale and Heart

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I feel twenty five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty five years stronger express what Tanlac has done for me better than any other way I can put it," said George D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 321 Walnut street, Springfield, Mass.

"I am now seventy-eight years old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlac. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay up for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk alone as nothing else agreed with me.

"When I started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and seventeen pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully bu-up, I now weigh one hundred and forty three pounds and my stomach is sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least.

"I never miss a chance of saying good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys of the "Sixties" who are not feeling right, to give it a try for I am sure it would put them in it again just as it has me. For a man my age to have no physical ailment, be well and strong and enjoy life as I did 25 years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there nothing too good I can say for Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H.
